

THE ROLE OF THE ENGLISH LANGUAGE IN THE INTERNATIONAL EDUCATION SYSTEM.

Sh.A.Kurbanova

Qo'qon universiteti Andijon filiali.

Pedagogika psixologiya

va filologiya kafedrasi v.b dotsenti.

Shohi2005@mail.ru

Abduvahobova Guljahon Xamidullo qizi

FTO'24_02

abduvahobovaguljahon53@gmail.com

<https://doi.org/10.5281/zenodo.14499028>

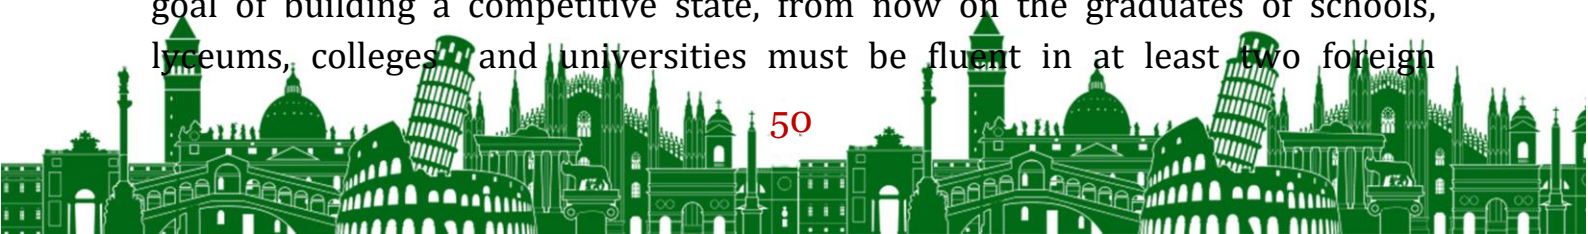

Annotation: In this article , what kind of language English is, its benefits, in which fields the English language is used today and its efficiency, opinions and thoughts have been presented about its effectiveness. In the International education system, special educational standards have been established for students to learn the English language.

Key words: Educational standards, cultural exchange, global communication and academic success.

" On May 6, a videoconference on measures to improve the system of teaching foreign languages was held under the chairmanship of the President Shavkat Mirziyoyev. Annually in our country , several fields of knowledge are identified the development of which is given a priority . This year, physics and foreign universities through the "El-yurt Umidi" Foundation, which is five times more than in previous years.

However, the situation of the system of teaching foreign languages in the field does not allow us to effectively address the large-scale tasks set in this area. Thus, there are more than 2 thousand job vacancies of a foreign language teacher in the education system. The quality of language teaching at 1.4 thousand schools is estimated as extremely low. Only 4% of schoolteachers have national and international language certificates. In the Khanabad and Kuvasai towns, Zafarabad, Mirishkor, Turtkul, Sherabad and Uzun districts, there is not a single teacher with a certificate. 49% of teachers failed the certification test. These and other issues in the field were comprehensively analyzed at the meeting".[1.1]

" It is time to create a new system of teaching foreign languages in our country, which will become a solid foundation for the future. Since we set ourselves the goal of building a competitive state, from now on the graduates of schools, lycseums, colleges and universities must be fluent in at least two foreign languages. This strict requirement should become the main criterion for the work of the director of each educational institution " , Shavkat Mirziyoyev said. [1.1]

First and foremost, in this article , we will examine what the English language is and it's benefits. English is a language that originated in Britain in the early Medieval period. It is the first language of over 400million people worldwide and is recognised as being the national language of the UK, Australia, Ireland, the USA, Canada and New Zealand. [2]

If we look at it's benefits, there are different kind of advantages such as global communication. English is the most widely spoken second language in the world, making it a valuable tool for communicating with people from different countries. Besides, it refers to the exchange of information, ideas and messages across different cultures and countries, often facilitated by shared languages, technologies, and platforms . In the context of English, it highlights the role of English as a universal language that bridges communication gaps, enabling people from diverse linguistic backgrounds to interact, collaborate and understand each other. This fosters international relationships, business, education, and cultural exchange.

As for International standards, there is no definitive set of international standards in education, either in terms of curriculum standards or in terms of assessment standards. However, the existence of, and rapidly growing interest in, international surveys such as PISA, TIMSS, and PIRLS has created and emphasised a notion of international standards, those responsible for their country's education system frequently look on their ranking in international comparisons as a measure of how well their systems are performing.

Cambridge has designed curricula for use worldwide for ages 5-19and our assessments at Cambridge Lower Secondary Checkpoint, Cambridge IGCS and Cambridge Advanced are designed to measure progress and achievement against these curricula.

The emphasis of the Cambridge curriculum is on offering a consistent approach to learning while allowing the opportunity for school leaders to tailor their teaching to take account of local circumstances. In education, the concept of standards includes both the description of what is to be learned and taught and the results of assessment. Educational assessments measure the extent to which learners have acquired knowledge, skills and understanding in a particular field, together with their ability to apply what they have learned. The outcome of an assessment may be reported as a pass or fail. When the outcome of an assessment is pass or fail, for example with a driving test, a pass result indicates that the learner has reached the minimum standard required to be regarded as competent but it does not indicate whether or not they have excelled as a driver. When results are reported as grades, each grade indicates how well the learner has shown mastery of the required knowledge, skills, and understanding and how well they have shown they can apply them, the higher standard. [2]

Nowadays, the English language is used as a common language for communication between people from different native language backgrounds. Some of the key areas where English is predominantly used include: business and commerce, technology and science, education, entertainment, and media, travel and tourism. One of the most well-known area is cultural exchange. Because it refers to the process in which people from various cultures share, learn and experience each other's traditions, ideas, values , art and ways of life. It promotes mutual understanding, respect and appreciation between different cultural groups. Overall, cultural exchange fosters global understanding, enriches societies and helps break down misconceptions leading to a more interconnected and harmonious world.

Moreover, the English language plays a crucial role in striving for academic success. Students may engage in cross-border academic collaborations. This participation helps students build a global academic network, share their research and stay updated on developments in their fields of interest as well as gain better career opportunities.

Additionally, mastering English opens doors to a broader academic and professional world, making it an essential skill for students aiming for success in today's globalised society.

References:

1. President: "It is time to create a new system of teaching Foreign Languages" [1.1]
<https://www.president.uz/en/lists/view/4327>
2. <https://www.twinkl.com/teaching-wikilenglish-language>
3. https://www.cambridgeinternational.org/images/271196_standards_in_education.pdf

